EUROPEAN STUDIES & COMMUNICATION MANAGEMENT
FACULTY OF MANAGEMENT AND ORGANISATION
THE HAGUE UNIVERSITY OF APPLIED SCIENCES

ACADEMIC YEAR 2017-2018

Disclaimer:

The information contained in this guide is, to the best of our knowledge, true and accurate at the time of publication and is solely for information purposes. Changing circumstances may cause alterations in its outline at any time. The programmes European Studies & Communication Management of The Hague University, accept no liability for any loss or damage howsoever arising as a result of use or reliance on this guide or on the information thereon or in respect of information accessed via any links from the Web pages.

Mission Statement

The programmes of European Studies & Communication Management (ESCM) are firmly committed to maintaining and developing the international character of its educational programmes. They seek to broaden academic and vocational links with Institutions and Organisations both within Europe and beyond, through such diverse activities as student and staff exchanges, curriculum development and participation in other educational initiatives. By placing an international dimension at the centre of policy objectives, a learning environment will be fostered to increase and enrich the opportunities available to both students and staff of the Institute, and those of our partner institutions and organisations.

The mission of the programmes is to provide students with the broadest professional, academic and personal experience of the world during their time with us in order to equip them with the necessary tools to be able to operate successfully in the global community dealing with the emerging issues of the 21st century world.

Foreword

At European Studies and its sister Communications programme, we pride ourselves on our international atmosphere. Within our undergraduate programmes we have a large number of non-Dutch students who come to spend their entire study period with us. Add to this the 200 students who come and complete either a one-year or one-semester exchange programme, and at any given time some 35 nationalities can be found within our corridors. These exchange students form an important part of our institute and we refer to them as 'guest students'.

To reflect the international dimension our academic programme offers many courses with an international perspective; moreover, we have also taken particular care to provide language courses at various levels to ensure that students can take languages at their own level and further enhance their skills. We believe this is vital in helping you become global citizens that are able to meet the challenges of modern society, thus increasing both your employability and social awareness. These are important considerations in our university and ones we are happy to share with you.

This guide aims to outline the study programme and facilities available for our guest students.

The information given in this guide is general and brief, more detailed module outlines are available upon request. The classes in Introduction to Dutch Culture & Society are obligatory for all students from abroad, because we think it is important that they should learn something about their host country.

The majority of our courses run twice in the academic year; that is, both the first and second semester, unless indicated in this guide.

We hope that all our guest students enjoy their stay in The Netherlands and that they will thrive from the challenges and opportunities we have to offer them. We shall certainly do everything possible to make their stay with us rewarding and look forward to having you here.

INFORMATION ABOUT ESCM, THE HAGUE UNIVERSITY OF APPLIED SCIENCES & THE NETHERLANDS

INTRODUCTION

The vast majority of institutions of higher education in The Netherlands are state-funded. They fall into two categories. There are around 20 traditional 'research' universities, and over 50 Universities of Applied Sciences (Hogeschole), whose emphasis is on a more vocational approach.

These vocational universities adopt a practical approach and explicitly set out to train students for specific jobs or a range of jobs at an academic level. There are strong links between these universities and the world of work.

A five/six-month traineeship is a compulsory part of the programme. Most study programmes at universities of applied sciences are four-year bachelor degree programmes, whereas bachelor degree programmes at the traditional universities normally take three years. In both cases graduates are awarded a bachelor degree.

The Hague University of Applied Sciences (THUAS) is a university with a vocational approach. European Studies and Communication Management are multi-disciplinary and internationally orientated educational institutes which aim to provide their students with qualifications enabling them to start a career in a wide range of jobs with international aspects.

INTERNAL ORGANISATION OF ESCM

THUAS comprises 7 faculties, each with between 1000-3500 students. The programmes European Studies and Communication Management are part of the Faculty Management and Organisation. The faculty has around 5000 students and around 260 staff members. We are run by a faculty director. The degree programmes offered by the faculty are run by programme directors and programme co-ordinators. The programme director and programme co-ordinators form the management of each of the programmes.

With over 100 exchange partners around the world, ESCM has compiled a team of dedicated and enthusiastic people to run its international affairs. We have a core organisational team and a number of so-called 'Country Tutors' who are on hand to assist our guest students settle into life in The Netherlands. THUAS also has a central International Office who receive application forms from potential guest students and help with visas, residency and accommodation matters; more information on them can be found on the website of THUAS.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Aside from the academic programme, European Studies & Communication Management also has a number of student-run bodies who help in the organisation and running of the faculty. Their purpose is to organise extra-curricular activities and to help promote the international atmosphere within the campus. These student bodies also take part in 'academic conversation' with the management to ensure the students' voice is heard. The bodies include:

HEBOS

HEBOS is the largest student organisation at European Studies & Communication Management. It caters for all student activities. Its most important aim is to stimulate friendship and understanding between its members. It also aims to establish good relationships with other student bodies within The Hague University. HEBOS tries to reach these aims by organising all kinds of social and cultural events, including sports activities.

ESCM student council

The student council consists of an executive committee that regularly meets with student representatives on the one hand and with the Management Team on the other. Some of the board members also have a seat in the faculty commission. The council is there to listen to complaints from students about matters relating to ESCM and to make its own contribution towards improving the situation for students. One or two members of the student council take part in the Educational Committee.

Sports Office

THUAS organises a large number of sports activities. Students can take part in these on the basis of a small contribution.

STUDENT COUNSELLING & SUPERVISION

European Studies & Communication Management have a counselling system in place to help students facing problems that may affect their study results. Our Guest Students are also encouraged to speak to their Country Tutor (see above) and/or the Mobility Co-ordinator in order to alleviate their problems.

THUAS has a central student counsellor, who is independent of the European Studies and Communication Management programmes. He advises students on all kinds of matters ranging from study grants and housing, to other programmes of study inside and outside THUAS. He can also help students with any appeals against decisions judged to be unfair or incorrect. The central student counsellor may also be approached when students have more personal problems affecting their studies, but in this case they can also choose to go to their Country Tutor or the Mobility Co-ordinator. They are there to listen to students and help them as best they can.

Any conversations with the central student counsellor or the faculty staff are strictly confidential. Students may be referred to expert agencies outside the university.

THUAS also has a student psychologist. The problems students see themselves confronted with are very diverse. Sometimes they lose the motivation to continue their studies or they suffer from a fear of failure; sometimes very serious things occur, such as psychiatric disorders. The psychologist provides short term care.

RULES REGARDING ATTENDANCE

In the case of a number of modules the final result is partly dependent on a student's active contribution during classes. In such cases of compulsory attendance (at least ten out of twelve or a comparable number of classes to allow for unforeseen illness or absence) this is clearly stated in the Blackboard pages of the course/s in question. If a student fails to attend the minimum number of times he is not awarded any credits for the module.

Students are expected to be on time for classes. If a student comes to class late, the lecturer concerned may refuse him/her entry.

RULES REGARDING SOURCE REFERENCING

During your studies at European Studies and Communication Management you are expected to use the documentation style of the American Psychological Association (APA). These rules, known as APA style, are laid down in a student manual, which is published on the university student portal. All essays and assignments should have in-text references and a separate reference list. An essay and/or assignment without correct referencing will not be marked and will be referred to the ESCM Exam Board.

COMMUNICATION & FACILITIES

European Studies and Communication Management can be reached through the general reception desk at:

Telephone +31 70 445 86 00
Fax +31 70 445 86 25
E-mail escm-receptie@hhs.nl

HOW STUDENTS CAN CONTACT LECTURERS

If students wish to contact staff outside class hours or want to hand in an essay or paper, there are the following rules:

- Handing in essays is normally via reception and through staff pigeonholes outside reception hours.
- Staff have certain office hours reserved to see students. During term-time students can go and see staff then. In weeks in which there is no teaching they can make appointments through reception, directly with the lecturer they wish to speak to or via e-mail.
- Members of staff can be asked short questions through e-mail. Students can normally expect to get an answer to e-mail questions within 3 working days.

HOW STAFF CONTACT STUDENTS

If ESCM or a member of staff wishes to contact a student, the following methods are used:

- Through the Guest Student pigeonholes on the fourth floor of the Oval building.
- Through e-mail. All European Studies students have their own e-mail address. The Digital Learning environment “BlackBoard” is also commonly used.
- Through study-related announcements published on the university portal (<http://portal.hhs.nl/>).
- If necessary for reasons of confidentiality, ESCM will try to contact a student through other methods, for instance by phone or by post. For that reason it is absolutely necessary that ESCM has up-to-date information about a student’s address and phone number. Should any changes occur in the course of the academic year, please tell the International Office.

ESCM COMPUTER FACILITIES

Besides general study plazas for students, there are several rooms containing computers used for classes and student purposes, all on the third floor.

- room OV. 3.39 22 computers
- room OV. 3.41 20 computers

- room OV. 3.43 22 computers
- room OV. 3.67 16 computers
- room OV. 3.73 16 computers

Outside the periods during which classes take place, these computer rooms may be used by ESCM students for homework assignments related to ICT or other subjects. For this purpose computers must be booked through the helpdesk. The opening hours of the rooms are clearly indicated on the door of each room.

Everyone using the computer rooms must abide by the following rules:

- Eating or drinking in the computer rooms is not allowed.
- Prints have to be paid for. This is done by using the so called Campus Card which must be previously charged. Students can get a Campus Card upon arrival.
- Everyone who has worked in one of the computer rooms is obliged to log off correctly and to switch off the computer before leaving the room.
- Students who wish to complete an assignment on a computer are strongly advised not to wait until the very last moment; the number of computers is limited.
- Guest Students will receive their personal username, password and temporary e-mail address once they register at THUAS. These will give the students random access to all public computers (including free internet access) within the University premises during the daily opening hours.

THE LIBRARY, A MULTIMEDIA LEARNING CENTRE

The library has a large collection of books, nearly 900 magazines, Dutch and foreign newspapers and a large collection of graduation essays. Because of its digital catalogue and excellent electronic sources of information, the library provides excellent facilities to students and staff. It is open to students registered at THUAS and to members of staff.

The Library is located on the first floor (entrance/exit, self-service unit for borrowing and returning items, Study Plaza) and ground floor (books, periodicals). Most library services are free of charge.

Opening hours Library:

Monday to Thursday	09.00 am – 09.00 pm
Friday	09.00 am – 06.00 pm

Opening hours Study Plaza:

Monday to Thursday	09.00 am – 10.00 pm
Friday	09.00 am – 06.00 pm

During the holiday periods opening hours may be different.

Most of the books, graduation essays and videotapes are available for borrowing. Magazines are not, but there are facilities for copying magazine articles. There is a limit to the number of items that can be borrowed the following items are allowed simultaneously.

There is also a digital library (for the most part accessible any time, from any computer, once you are logged in as a student) which includes (international) databases, E-journals, standards database, E-books, THUAS theses and publications in digital form, information about copyright regulations and tools available for managing references. Please check: <http://sites.thehagueuniversity.com/library/digital-library>

For more information about borrowing library items, the library catalogue, workshop/training courses available for students, facilities and house rules, please consult: sites.thehagueuniversity.com/library

If you have any questions you can visit the library and ask a staff member or contact our electronic information desk:
<http://sites.thehagueuniversity.com/library/help/e-helpdesk>

CATERING

Food and beverages may be obtained from the central restaurant, from the Light House cafe and from vending machines. In all cases payment is through chip cards. The central restaurant (OV 0.68) has the largest selection of items. The central restaurant also has halal products. The meals must not be taken out of the central restaurant. It is open during term-time from 8am to 9pm. During the holiday periods the opening hours are: 11am-3pm.

THE CAMPUSCARD

An electronic purse system has been introduced at THUAS for buying things like food and drinks at the canteen and making copies on the copy machines, so it is not possible to pay in cash inside the university. THUAS therefore supplies exchange students with a special student chip card (CampusCard), which they will receive during the orientation period. To add money on this card, you will need to have a PayPal account or a Dutch bank account (with a Dutch bank account you can charge your card using Ideal or the machines at the THU building). It is not possible to charge the CampusCard with foreign bank cards so make sure you get a PayPal account online so you can use it upon arrival at THUAS.

Alternative, food and drinks can be bought at THUAS with a Dutch bank card, which you will receive upon opening a Dutch bank account.

MEDICAL CARE

In case of illness, students can contact a General Practitioner. More information upon arrival.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE ACADEMIC PROGRAMME

The European Studies and Communication Management programmes award a Bachelor's degree. Both programmes are offered in 2 formats – a 4-year programme and a more intensive 3-year programme. European Studies is fully taught in English and so is the 3-year programme of International Communication management. The 4-year programme of Communication Management is taught in Dutch.

TIMETABLES, EXAM DATES & YEAR CALENDAR

There are four terms and timetables will differ from term to term.

Class hours are the following:

1. 08.45 am – 09.30 am
2. 09.35 am – 10.20 am
3. 10.30 am – 11.15 am
4. 11.20 am – 12.05 pm
5. 12.15 pm – 13.00 pm
6. 13.00 pm – 13.45 pm
7. 13.50 pm – 14.35 pm
8. 14.45 pm – 15.30 pm
9. 15.35 pm – 16.20 pm
10. 16.30 pm – 17.15 pm

In weeks with less than five working days the timetable is adjusted so that as many classes as possible can take place.

CHANGES TO THE ACADEMIC CALENDAR

It is emphasised that when planning their holidays students must stick to the official holiday periods. It is sometimes necessary for ESCM to change dates and schedule exams or lectures on dates originally planned as lecture-free or exam-free days. However, no changes will be made to the official holiday periods.

EXAM DATES

At the start of the year the exam schedule is published, so that students can plan ahead. They can count on exams taking place in the exam periods in which they have been scheduled, but exams may be moved to other days and other times. When this happens, it is to accommodate certain groups of students for whom the original schedule poses serious problems. Students will be informed of any changes through Osiris during the semester. A noticeboard outside reception is also used in case of last-minute changes and should be checked every day.

YEAR CALENDAR 2017-2018

The academic year is divided into two semesters. Each semester is divided into two terms of some 9-10 weeks. In each term there are six-seven weeks of lectures and students sit examinations at the end of each term. Resits of one term take place after the next term, except for term 4 where resits are offered in August.

The provisional list of holiday dates is as follows:

28 Aug	Start Introduction Period Semester 1
16-20 Oct	Autumn Break
23-27 Oct	Exams Term 1
25 Dec-5 Jan	Christmas Break
8-12 Jan	Re-sit Exams Term 1
15-19 Jan	Exams Semester 1
30 Jan	Start Introduction Period Semester 2
26 Feb - 30 Feb	Spring Break
26 Mar – 30 Mar	Re-sit Exams Term 2
2 Apr – 6 Apr	Exams Term 3
27 Apr	King's Day
7 May – 11 May	Re-sit Exams Term 3
11 June – 15 June	Exams Term 4
22 June	End of Semester 2
(20 Aug – 24 Aug	Re-sit Exams Term 4)

This calendar is subject to change. No rights may be derived from this information.

Within the above calendar, the exact semester dates will be determined. Both the 1st and 2nd Semesters are opened by a week-long orientation period for Guest Students, thus students should be aware that they are required to be in The Hague one week before classes start.

NUMBER OF MODULES & CREDIT POINTS

Nearly all our modules carry a study-load of approximately 60 hours. This includes preparation for classes, attending classes, self-study, sitting the exam or writing a paper.

Most of the subjects listed in this brochure are worth 2 to 5 ECTS (European Credit Transfer System). We consider a full semester programme to be from 27 to 30 ECTS points. 'Introduction to Dutch Culture and Society' is compulsory. Students who stay a whole year only have to follow this subject in the first semester.

Most courses have around 10-12 contact hours. For Italian students this is far less than the hours usually studied per course, for Scandinavians it is reasonably similar. Some students feel that they do not have enough time to complete the content of each module, so be prepared to adapt your study habits to the new system.

Group work may also be unusual practice to students, but many agree that this provides a great opportunity to work with other students.

Class size may vary quite a bit from smaller seminar-sized groups to large lecture audiences. Most modules run for 6/7 weeks with 1 class per week although some are semester modules. Missing classes can become hazardous to your grades, since for most modules, missing a week is equal to 1/6 of a module.

Please also note that classes have restrictions on student numbers. Hence registration is very important; if you fail to register, you will lose your place on the course. Some modules run for the whole semester, if you start a module in term 1 (3) you are expected to complete it in term 2 (4).

It is possible that you may not be able to follow one or more of the subjects that you chose for reasons such as timetable-clashes, limited class sizes, a subject not being offered due to insufficient demand etc.

COURSE MATERIAL

European Studies and Communication Management publish module books and readers for most subjects on its electronic learning environment called 'Blackboard'. Details on required textbooks and materials will be made available to students upon arrival.

Many modules have a required textbook. Textbooks can be expensive and there are very limited numbers of copies in the library (there is always a copy to be consulted and which cannot be lent out). It is sometimes possible to buy a second-hand copy of the textbook from a student who has already taken the module. Ultimately, you may have to buy the brand new textbook. This being the case, then you should order the book as soon as you know what your subject choice will be, particularly for subjects offered in the first half of the semester.

REGISTERING FOR COURSES

Students will make a preliminary registration online through the Osiris tool. Upon registration at THUAS, students will receive a link inviting them to pre-register for courses. Once in The Hague, they will need to confirm their registration for those courses after publication of the timetable. It is important to note that courses have limited numbers and students should be prepared to register for alternative courses should a course be full at the moment of their registration.

Course Material	Fearn-Banks Kathleen (2011) Crisis Communications A Casebook Approach, 4ed, Routledge , ISBN 978-0-415-88059
Course Outline	In today's complex and interconnected world we are surrounded by risks: 24 hour media coverage and the rise of the internet mean an incident in one country can quickly become an international crisis. Added to this is the growing influence of social networks and the citizen journalist. These are a new breed of reporter. They are not bound by any rules or professional codes of conduct but they are able to gather and distribute news as fast as (if not faster than) established news organisations. This explosion of communication media presents Governments and organizations with great challenges. Planning ahead and protecting citizens from risk is increasingly demanding. Events such as pandemics, floods and fires, earthquakes, tsunamis, nuclear emergencies, power shutdowns and disruption of essential services are just some examples of the crises that have left governments worldwide struggling to keep control. Organizations have faced large scale industrial accidents, product failures and environmental calamity as a result of their operations – controlling the damage to stakeholders and to their own reputations has not been easy. These events show how rapidly crises can develop and how important it is for governments and other parties to manage their communications efficiently and effectively, in order to avoid a collapse of trust. This course will explore crisis and risk communication and the role it plays in the effective management of crisis and risk.

Women and Society
Credits	5 ECTS

Entry Requirements	None
Method	Lectures, discussions, reports and presentations
Assessment	Essays/report and presentation
Course Material	Module book and reading materials available on Blackboard
Course Outline	This module will address several issues and problems that women have had to contend with over the centuries, hoping thereby to understand and explore what attitudinal and legislative changes are long overdue in the improvement of women's status. The course is organised around a number of themes, ranging from women and health to women and work. These subjects will be approached from different angles and an attempt has been made to include different continents and individual countries in the discussion. Even though some people might think that in western society there is no real need for feminism and women's organisations anymore, by raising certain issues and by questioning some of women's achievements in the last few decades students will become more aware of their status in society as women and men .
Learning Outcomes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Report and reflect on own research into specific themes related to women and their position in different societies; • Construct intercultural knowledge of the themes by consulting international sources and actively participating in the international classroom; • Define and argue their own viewpoint on various gender issues (both in speaking and writing) based on critically comparing and contrasting international sources.

Religious Ideology & Iconography
Credits	5 ECTS
Entry Requirements	Students should have taken the Political/Cultural/Economic Dimensions of Europe or comparable courses in politics, history and culture. Contemporary European Politics is also recommended and a background in basic philosophy is welcome.
Method	The course consists of six weeks of 90-minute lectures and 45-minute seminars led by students, as well as ongoing online discussion on a special (private) class blog. Students study reading assignments on their own time.
Assessment	Thirty percent of the grade is based on the assessment of the group's seminar, a combination of preparation, presentation skills and content. Seventy percent of the assessment is based on a writing assignment consisting of an essay about the role of religion in politics and society, combined with an annotated bibliography that makes a critical analysis of information sources.
Course Material	The following book is required: Religions in the Modern World: Traditions and Transformations Edited by Linda Woodhead, Christopher Partridge and Hiroko Kawanami Routledge ISBN: 9780415858816 This course also makes use of a weblog where students post content for seminars and engage in dialog. Reading assignments are subject to change and new assignments may be added throughout the course.
Course Outline	This course will look closer at the “spiritual dimension” of Europe by giving students an understanding of the major religions that affect European society and politics and will examine the role religion plays in Europe today. The origins and histories of each faith will be covered, but special attention will also be paid to discussing contemporary developments and polemics in a respectful way. Major topics include Hinduism, Judaism, Christianity and Islam as well as the contrasting philosophies of secularism and humanism and some other religions/philosophies practiced in Europe (Buddhism) with some attention to new religious movements such as Scientology, etc.
Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of this module students can: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Demonstrate informed awareness and understanding of different religious belief systems, based on thorough (self)study and research that takes different (cultural) perspectives into account.

Ideas
Credits	5 ECTS
Entry Requirements	This course can only be taken in combination with Political Ideology and Religious Ideology & Iconography
Method	Lectures and seminars
Assessment	Essay
Course Material	Goodwin, B. (2014) Using Political Ideas (6 th ed.). John Wiley & Sons, Ltd: Chichester
Course Outline	Part of the minor programme Ideas, Ideology, and Iconography in (European) Politics. This course will look at the history of ideas in political philosophy after 1750 that, often related to religion and political ideology, permeate contemporary politics and political theory. The course provides a more theoretical background to the Political ideology and Religious Ideology courses by analysing underlying political ideas that contribute to a more fundamental understanding of the essential and contemporary debates in political theory. The course lectures introduce main political ideas (democracy, power and authority, freedom and rights, citizenship, civil disobedience and social justice) and the seminars are organised as close reading sessions in which texts from key authors (Francis Fukuyama, J.J. Rousseau, Wilhelm Von Humboldt, Thomas Paine, Herbert Marcuse and John Rawls) on the respective political ideas are analysed.
Learning Outcomes	Upon successful completion of the module, students will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Student is able to reflect on the paradigm of the liberal democracy from the perspective of the history of ideas and contemporary perspectives on politics. 2. Entry Requirements	None; please note this is a 1 st -year module and should only be chosen by students who do not have a background in Political Science. This course is for semester 1 only!
Method	Lectures and seminars
Assessment	Written exam with open questions
Course Material	Heywood, A. (2015) Key Concepts in Politics and International Relations, 2nd edition, 2015, Palsgrave
Course Outline	This course is intended to build student understanding of Europe as a political space. Students will be introduced to key concepts and issues in political science. Among others, we address questions such as what a state is, how democracy can be understood, what liberalism is, which role a Prime Minister has, what a political party is, how elections work. The course has two broad objectives. Firstly, it aims to introduce students to the theoretical and practical study of politics in a European and international context. Secondly, it strives to provide students with the opportunity to reflect critically on the strengths and weaknesses of the political institutions and processes studied. The overall goal of the course is to increase students' knowledge of and sensitivity to European political diversity.
Learning Outcomes	Upon successful completion of the module, students will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Define fundamental concepts in political science. 2. Illustrate the key definitions from political science with appropriate real life examples drawn from European and/or international politics. 3. Examine and evaluate the main political processes and institutions across Europe and globally. 4. Adequately use the language of political science. 5. Recognize essential information from reading materials and design effective study notes. 6. Show awareness of political diversity at the European and global level.

Course Material	Buonanno, L., Nugent, N. (2014), Policy and Policy Processes of the European Union, First Edition
Course Outline	Introduce the student to the study of European Public Policy, which examines modes of policy-making operating in the European Union. The course will introduce the theoretical concepts and models that seek to describe the policy-making process at the European level. The Course will demonstrate the continual evolution of European policy-making processes. We will discover how it should emerge that no single theory is capable of acting as a template for predicting and describing all European policy-making processes. The course will seek to ensure students have a solid understanding of the theoretical basis of European public policy, the debates and arguments amongst the academic community and the historical evolution of public policy theory. The five case studies have been selected to provide students with examples of forms of policy-making that support different theoretical constructs i.e. intergovernmental, functionalism, governance etc as well as provide examples of the 5 modes of policy making. Lectures 1 to 4 provide the students with the key theoretical concepts, practical tools and understanding that will enable them to analyse and understand European public policy. Starting with the key theoretical frameworks we move to examining the policy process. Lectures 5 to 6 provide a review of the anatomy of the EU institutions underlining the different policy making context that apply to each EU institution (e.g. European Commission vs. European Court of Justice). We also examine the role of EU agencies and their differing mandates and competences. Following this theoretical component the lectures 7 to 11 will move onto a series of core case studies of major European policies. We have selected 5 policy areas that reflect the diversity of EU policy-making as well as draw out the specificities of each policy area. These specificities will then be linked with the theories explores in the first 5 lectures. Lecture 12 will provide a conclusion that seeks draw together the main knowledge provided by the lecture series and provide students with the overall picture of European public policy, presented by this course. Students will be equipped with sufficient insight into European policy-making to allow them to draw their own conclusions regarding the theoretical models put forward by academia.

International Humanitarian Law and International Criminal Law
Credits	5 ECTS
Entry Requirements	Basic understanding of law. This course is for semester 1 only!
Method	Lectures and seminars
Assessment	Oral and written exam
Course Material	Various articles
Course Outline	A good command of English (reading level C1 CEF) is essential to do well in the course. No legal background is required but A 'feel' for legal material is likely to be an asset. Both International Humanitarian Law (IHL) and International Criminal Law (ICL) belong to the realm of international law. Both fields of law have developed spectacularly in recent decades. However, the basic principles of international humanitarian law and the founding conventions in this field have been around for much longer. The principles and rules of International Criminal Law have been strongly developed by International Legal institutions (many of them based in The Hague) such as the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (ICTR) and the International Criminal Court (ICC), some of which will be visited during field trips.

	The objective of the module is to provide students with knowledge on a mix of historical and contemporary aspects related to IHL and ICL. Apart from focusing on the knowledge of the development and the existing rules in both fields much stress will be put on acquiring a critical view towards both subjects. Moreover, students will be introduced to the notion of transitional justice and the peace v. justice debate.
Learning Outcomes	After successful completion of this course IHL/ICL module the student will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Explain the historical foundations of IHL/ICL. ▪ Describe and explain the fundamental principles of IHL and apply these to actions of actors in conflict situations. ▪ Apply articles from the Rome Statute to a specific case. ▪ Analyse the Rwandan Genocide and the role of transitional justice in Rwanda. Discuss the role of the courts and tribunals that are active in the field of ICL.

International Human Rights Law
Credits	5 ECTS
Entry Requirements	Basic understanding of law. This course is for semester 1 only!
Method	Lectures and seminars
Assessment	Written exam
Course Material	Various articles
Course Outline	A good command of English (reading level C1 CEF) is essential to do well in the course. No legal background is required but A 'feel' for legal material is likely to be an asset. The aftermath of the Second World War provided a fertile ground for the creation and promotion of International Human Rights Conventions. The first step in this process was the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948. At the moment over 10 different United Nations conventions are in force. On a regional level three legal systems exist, the Inter-American, African and European system. In this module students will specifically focus on the European system. The cumulative effect of both the developments at the UN and the regional levels has led to a situation where Human Rights can no longer be considered as belonging to the domestic jurisdiction of individual states. Human Rights

	standards have become internationalized both legally and politically. Governments experience pressure to observe international standards and can no longer get away by simply denouncing foreign interference within the domestic situation of the country. The module is divided in three parts. Firstly, students will look into the development of Human Rights standards and conventions at the UN level. After that a closer look will be taken at the European system where we will also be examining a legal judgment from the European Court of Human Rights. Finally, we will look at some specific human rights, such as the right to freedom of expression and privacy.
Learning Outcomes	Upon successful completion on the course, students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Explain the historical and philosophical basis for the development of the law in the field of International Human Rights. • Apply articles from the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the European Convention on Human Rights to a specific case. • Discuss a judgment of the European Court of Human Rights. • Describe the main international legal institutions that are active in the field of HRL, such as the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) and the Human Rights Council (HRC). • Discuss and analyse the scope of a specific Human Right by means of a short essay.
